SHOOTING ON EAST GARFIELD TAKES 6TH STREET TODAY PERSONAL CHARGE

WHIT HYDEN DANGEROUSLY WOUNDED IN DIFFICULTY WITH E. W. USSAERY THIS MORNING

SAYS COAL PRODUCTION GETTING CLOSER TO NORMAL, THOUGH CONDITION IS ACUTE IN MIDDLE WEST

Whit Hyden was shot and dangerously wounded this morning about 11:30 o'clock in the 300 block on East 6th Street. E. W. Ussery is charged with the shooting. Hyden has two loads of shot in his arm and side and is said to be in a precarious condition.

Reports as to the incidents of the shooting are conflicting. According to Ussery he interfered when Hyden attacked Mrs. McBrown with threats of killing her, whereupon Hyden attacked with a knife, cutting a gash in his right sleeve. He then shot Hyden with a shot gun.

According to the story of other parties Ussery, after some words with Hyden went into his house and got his gun, and after exchanging some words shot Hyden who was standing several feet away. After the shooting Ussery phoned for a physician and went to the sheriff's office and gave himself up.

It is said that Hyden is an epileptic and subject to hallucinations. He is about thirty five years old. Ussery is about sixty years of age.

NAVY READY FOR ANY EMERGENCY SAYS DANIELS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—Despite the demobilization of personnel since the armistice, the navy is ready to meet any emergency, Secretary Daniels declared yesterday in discussing published reports that the navy would be found unprepared if called upon for active service at this time.

Announcing that the eight dreadnaughts of the Atlantic fleet and about 100 destroyers would leave Guantanamo, Cuba, Jan. 8 for winter maneuvers, Mr. Daniels said these ships would be "adequately manned" although their crews would not constitute a war complement. Other battleships of the Atlantic fleet will join the fleet as soon as it was possible to man them as such.

The secretary pointed out that the enlisted personnel of the navy now was 100,000, nearly double that before the war, and said the work of training the recruits was proceeding satisfactorily.

BERKMAN EQUIPS FOR FAR NORTH RUSSIAN CLIMATE

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—Alexander Berkman spent yesterday equipping himself with American clothing in preparation for deportation to Russia. Tomorrow noon he and Emma Goldman will be in custody at Ellis Island, their liberty on bail during deportation proceedings having expired.

Berkman consulted an oculist and had new glasses made. Then he went shopping in Brooklyn, and purchased clothes, including heavy underwear, shoes and gloves.

"Conditions on the other side," Harry Weinsten, his counsel said, "are such that there is little or no opportunity for securing light or heavy clothing."

FURTHER ANNOUNCEMENT OF REDUCED RAILROAD SERVICE

LOUIS, Mo., Dec. 5.—The first railroad to make announcement of reduced service was the Frisco which issued a bulletin this morning, cancelling trains Nos. 1 and 2 between St. Louis and Tulsa, Fort Worth, Dallas and San Antonio; Nos. 3 and 4 between Springfield, Fort Smith and Dallas; and local trains Nos. 823 and 824 between St. Louis and St. Mary's Mo.

DURANT CITIZENS ARE CHOPPING WOOD

DURANT, Okla., Dec. 4.—Volunteer workers have made the chips fly in the woods near Durant today and have provided over 100 cords of wood to relieve the fuel famine here. At a mass meeting Tuesday night it was decided that securing wood was Durant's only solution of the fuel problem. As a result the mayor called for volunteer workers for today. This morning about 250 men responded, including ninety-two students of the Southeastern State Normal, headed by President Bennett. This afternoon all business places closed and about 1,000 men went to the woods. The wood will be hauled into town and a municipal wood yard established on the city market square, where this and all wood that can be obtained will be sold.

GEN. WALTERS RECEIVES ADVICE OF MEXICAN RAID

HOUSTON, Tex., Dec. 5.—General J. F. Walters, commanding the Texas cavalry with headquarters here, today received advices of a raid by Mexican bandits on a store near the border eleven miles south of Zapata, county seat of Zapata county. The information is that the owner of the store was bound, the place looted and the bandits fled across the border. The report was telephoned by W. M. Hanson, a captain in the ranger service, who is serving as special examiner for the senate investigating committee.

A. B. Baker of McLean & McNeal, cotton seed growers of Luling, Tex., was in the city today and sold a car of seed to the Osage Cotton Oil Co.

VOLUNTEER MINING ON AT McALESTER

GOVERNOR ROBERTSON, JOHN A. WHITEHURST ON THE SPOT; SOLDIERS TO PROTECT THE MINERS.

By the Associated Press
McALESTER, Okla., Dec. 5.—The first coal to be moved from the Oklahoma fields by the use of volunteer labor will be shipped from the strip pits six miles south of here Saturday morning, according to Governor J. B. A. Robertson.

Governor Robertson, John A. Whitehurst, chairman of the state council of defense, and Adjutant General Charles F. Barrett, arrived here last night with a detachment of thirty volunteer miners and sixty members of the Oklahoma National Guard. Governor Robertson and local operators are at work at the pits today making a preliminary survey relative to starting actual work.

A squadron of United States cavalry from Columbus, N. M., will arrive here for guard duty Saturday mornings according to Governor Robertson.

Angry Wife Goes Gunning For The Second Woman

Just because the gun was empty Nettie Owens escaped serious injury last night when Mrs. A. T. Atkins of Bebe snapped an automatic pistol at her. Mrs. Atkins paid $24.75 in police court this morning on the charge of carrying a gun.

It is said that Atkins, who is a farmer living near Bebe, has been visiting the Owens woman in Ada, and last night Atkins' wife and daughter came to Ada looking for him. They engaged the help of the police and started out to find Atkins. He was located at the home of Claude Jones, in company with Nettie Owens, and the two were arrested. On their way to the police station Mrs. Atkins drew an automatic and attempted to shoot the other woman, but the gun only snapped, and Mrs. Atkins was disarmed by Policemen Matthews and Gatcher.

A charge of associating was filed against Atkins and the Owen woman and their trial will be had in police court this afternoon. Both are under bond. Mrs. Atkins charges that she and her daughter cultivated their crop this year and picked cotton, only to have Atkins bring the cotton to Ada and spend the proceeds on the other woman.

CZECHE-SLAVIA TROOPS ARE BEING MOBILIZED

By the Associated Press
COPENHAGEN, Dec. 5.—The Czecho-Slavian government has ordered the mobilization of three military classes, according to a dispatch from Vienna to the National Piccione here. A Prague dispatch says that 21 divisions of Czecho-Slavia troops are advancing toward the Hungarian frontier.

Czecho-Slavia apparently has been exercised by the reported monarchial developments in Hungary following the evacuation of Budapest by the Rumanians and the aggressiveness reported to have been displayed recently by Hungarian frontier forces. Recent advices from Prague announced an attack by Hungarian frontier detachment and Czecho-Slavia troops.

WHERE ARE THE PEOPLE WHO WANT TO WORK?

I have been talking about a day nursery and baby home and an employment office in Ada for four months and failed to interest any one, so just before giving up in despair I took my troubles to the ADA EVENING NEWS. The editor, who has a heart as big as a washtub, said, "Yes, with pleasure we will run that for you." And, believe me, I have had to employ a telephone girl, so numerous have been the calls, and, my, the people are sending in presents and guaranteeing their support. One big-hearted farmer at Stonewall asked me if we had any hogs to kill. "Well," he said, "I will surely remember you and the kiddies when I kill hogs." That sounds good to me.

The only thing we can't get in touch with is the party that is hunting work. And we have all kinds of work on our books. But one idea I am trying to get before you is this: If you have a secret be sure not to let THE ADA EVENING NEWS get it, for Micie will surely tell the world about it. Tell me your troubles. Phone 327.—Annie Parks.

MARTIAL LAW IS DECLARED TODAY

GOVERNOR ROBERTSON DECLARES MARTIAL LAW IN FIVE COUNTIES TO PRESERVE COAL SUPPLY

By the Associated Press
McALESTER, Okla., Dec. 5.—Governor Robertson has issued a proclamation declaring martial law in Pittsburg, Latimer, Le Flore, Haskell, and Okmulgee counties, to take effect immediately.

The proclamation sets forth that martial law is necessary "to promote public peace; to secure coal for fuel purposes; to prevent criminal syndicalism; and restore the mining section to its normal condition."

Brigadier General Chas. F. Barrett will command the troops. In the proclamation Gov. Robertson announces that he has ordered on duty the entire guard organization to occupy the coal fields, "to preserve coal in the present crisis."

GOVERNOR ASKS FOR OLD INDIAN SCHOOL BUILDING

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—An appeal for the soldiers in Oklahoma suffering from tuberculosis has been received by the members of the Oklahoma delegation from Governor Robertson who requests that they secure and execute an order authorizing the use of vacant Indian school buildings in the Sac and Fox agency of Shawnee for a tubercular hospital. Representative Hastings took the matter up with the Indian bureau today, urging immediate action and is hopeful that the governor's request will be speedily granted.

Assistant Commissioner Merritt advises today that the bureau is considering the proposition and thinks it more than likely that the buildings in the Sac and Fox agency will be designated. Definite information will be given out by the bureau in a few days.

ENID CHILDREN STUDY AT HOME DESPITE WEATHER

ENID, Dec. 5.—School children of the Garfield ward building were fooled recently when they thought they would get a long vacation following the closing of the building, due to a lack of fuel in the city. Superintendent Price has decreed that the pupils are to meet in their rooms at the school every morning for home work assignments and instructions from the teacher. The following morning the teachers collect the assignments and make new one. The children are voicing protests, but the superintendent declares that their task is just one of the many ones caused by lack of fuel.

THIS INJUNCTION MAKES MISSOURI WET IN PLACES

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 5.—Federal Judge Farris, in the United States District Court here, today granted a temporary injunction restraining the District Attorney and the collector of internal revenue from enforcing the war time prohibition enforcement act as it applies to whiskey and wine. The restraining order was granted to four St. Louis liquor dealers. Assistant District Attorney White said the effect of the decision would be to permit the sale of whiskey and wine throughout the eastern district of Missouri, including St. Louis and fifty-four counties.

Grandma R. B. Holmes left on the Katy this morning for Wabashka to live with her son there. She has heretofore been a ward of the country, living at Ada.

Dick William's Barber shop Sold To Frank Arnett

Frank Arnett has bought the barber shop on North Broadway from Dick Williams and took possession this morning. This is the shop in the rear of the Guaranty State Bank. Mr. Williams has not decided just what he will do in the future. Frank Arnett is one of Ada's most popular barbers and is sure to have all the work he can possibly do.

Pontotoc County Interested In Oil Cities Road

The question of opening the Oil Cities Highway thru Pontotoc County is raised again in a letter from Paul B. Smith, secretary of the highway association, received by Dr. L. M. Overton, president of the good roads association of the county. The Oil Cities Highway is supposed to run from the oil center of Kansas thru Tulsa, Ada and Ardmore to Wichita Falls, Texas.

The present purpose of the association is to organize all counties thru which the proposed highway will pass. The by laws of the association require a county membership fee of at least one member for each mile of the highway in the county. A membership fee of at least $5.00 is required, of which amount $2.00 must be sent to the general association. For each $2.00 received by the association five markers will be sent to the county. These markers are set up at the intersection of roads and at the entrance and exits of cities.

Before the highway can receive any assistance from the national association or the federal government the road must be laid out and marked. Then with the proper organization perfected in the various counties work can begin and the road work pushed to completion.

The Oil Cities Highway is planned thru one of the richest sections of Oklahoma and would be of inestimable value to this section of the state. It would be ten strike for Pontotoc County if the organization could be perfected here first of all the counties thru which the highway is to pass.

Dr. Overton announces that a call for a mid-winter convention to consider the road question will be issued presently. While the rest of the country is alive to the necessity of good roads the doctor thinks that the citizens of this county should get busy.

YE TOWN GOSSIP

THE IDEA came to me.
YESTERDAY MORNING.
AND I'VE thought about it.
A GOOD deal since.
AND IT improves.
STILL MORE with time.
AND IT'S like this.
AND YESTERDAY morning.
A LADY friend of mine.
CAME INTO the office.
AND PRESENTED me.
WITH TWO jars.
OF PRESERVES.
AND THEY were fine.
AND I thought.
THAT IT would be.
A GOOD idea.
IF WE could arouse.
MORE INTEREST.
IN CANNING.
AND MAKING preserves.
AND I felt.
THAT IT was my duty.
TO STIMULATE interest.
IF I could.
AND I'M going to try.
AND DO it.
AND I'D like to have.
ALL THE ladies in town.

TRY TO make preserves.
AND SEND me a jar.
AS A sample.
AND I'LL take it home.
AND TEST it thoroughly.
AND AFTER I get through.
WITH ALL the samples.
I'LL ANNOUNCE the winner.
AND WILL give her.
AS A prize.
ALL OF the empty jars.
SO SHE can make.
SOME MORE preserves.
AND THE competition.
IS NOW open.
ONLY I'D like to suggest.
THAT YOU send in.
PEACH PRESERVES.
OR WATERMELON rinds.
BECAUSE I have.
A PREFERENCE for them.
AND IT would improve.
YOUR CHANCES.
OF WINNING the prize.
AND IF the contest.
PROVES A success.
WE'LL HAVE another one.
IN CAKE making.
I THANK you.

"Thanks to the National Biscuit Company and the other packers of good things," said the girl, "I can live without a kitchen."

A thick, warm-to-the-touch invitation to lounge on the floor, while the big, fringed curtains scattered about gave evidence that this was permissible. ## TOM McCLENNON HAS GAINED 25 POUNDS

HAD RHEUMATISM SO BAD HE COULDN'T PUT ON SHOES—TANLAC OVERCOMES IT

"The Reason I'm so strong for Tanlac is because it has relieved me of three years of awful suffering and I've gained twenty-five pounds besides," said Tom McClellon, of 1313 Gramma street, El Paso, Texas. "Before I began taking Tanlac," he continued, "my legs and feet were so badly swollen that sometimes I couldn't even put on my shoes. The pain was awful and I was so nervous I could hardly sleep. I had no appetite and the little I forced down soured and the gas pressed on my heart so I could hardly breathe. I felt tired all the time and would wake up in the morning feeling so bad I could hardly get out of bed."

"I tried everything I could hear of but got no relief till I started on Tanlac, and now I feel like a brand new man all over. My appetite is fine, everything I eat agrees with me, my nerves are steady as a clock and I sleep like a log. All the swelling and pain have left my feet and legs and I am never bothered with gas on my stomach or shortness of breath or other sign of indigestion. Tanlac is the best medicine I ever used and I gladly recommend it to others."

"THE CAREER OF KATHERINE BUSH" NOW PICTURED

Appearing in the stellar role of "The Career of Katherine Bush," a splendid Paramount-Artcraft Special picturization of Elinor Glyn's famous novel of the same name, which will be shown at the Liberty Theatre Friday, Catherine Calvert, the beautiful and talented star, has one of the strongest roles of her screen career.

In this picture, which was directed by R. William Neill, Miss Calvert is seen as Katherine Bush, an ambitious young woman who begins her career as a typist and succeeds in wedding the Duke of Mordrynn, a member of the British Parliament, after a turbulent courtship. The photoplay fairly bristles with action and the various situations are unusually thrilling and appealing.

Miss Calvert is an actress of exceptional dramatic force and beauty. She has appeared in numerous photoplays and her stage career has been quite successful. Her husband was the late Paul Armstrong, a well known playwright, and she appeared in several of his plays in New York with great success. She is finished artist and her character portrayals are truthful, sincere and effective.

ADVANCING COSTS HASTEN DOOM OF TWO-CENT PAPER

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—Alarm over the scarcity of news print paper and its increasing cost has brought about a nation-wide movement among publishers to take steps to meet the situation.

The standard contract price for print stock during the early months of 1920 will be so high that the white paper alone in a single copy of usual size will cost two and one-half cents. This figure does not take into consideration any of the other mechanical costs, such as printing and distributing.

Publishers hold that it is manifestly impossible to sell two and a half cents worth of white paper for two cents and live. Early increases to two and three cents daily and ten cents Sunday are urged by the American Newspaper Publishers' Association which has its headquarters here.

An increase in price would remedy only one phase of the trouble it is held. The scarcity of stock, and the greatly increased costs of production in all departments will require increased advertising rates. The publishers at a recent meeting, decided that as at matter of necessity they would be forced to charge more, and suggest the use of less space to advertisers. Thus for the same revenue they could print smaller papers, and conserve the supply.

The situation has become so grave that big and little newspapers are working together to make the stock of paper go around. It has become a common matter for a publisher not to know whether he would have paper for next week's use.

THE CREED OF CAIN

No disaster ever visited the coal fields without winning a response in charity and benevolence from all the prairies of Oklahoma.

When eighty miners were blown to death in the valley of the San Bois every village on the plains of Oklahoma offered assistance and succor.

When death swept through the streets of Coalgate and the cyclone took toll from the lives and property of that mining city, every heart and every hand in Oklahoma responded to the call of charity.

No calamity ever came to the mine fields that the entire state did not offer aid.

The farmers and merchants of the prairies will never permit a miner's wife to die for lack of charity or a miner's child to perish for lack of food.

But grim death stands today on all the prairies of Oklahoma and its grizzly form has been summoned by the miners of the state.

Those who in days gone by have enjoyed the charity of the state now invoke death to strike their benefactors, and to the call for charity respond with the creed of Cain.

"Am I My Brother's Keeper?" is the blasphemous answer of those who weigh a palty wage against death rattle of inoffensive babes.

Regardless of the weapon employed, murder is murder. The miner who by inaction sends the little white hearse along the highway is just as foul a murderer as the man who with a bludgeon brains a babe in arms.

"Thou shalt not kill" was God's own mandate, and can neither be repealed nor suspended by human hands. The blood of all who perish because of a miner's inactivity will rest at last on the head of the murderer at the mines.

A VOICE FROM THE UNKNOWN

In Sunday's issue of the New York Times appears one of the last articles ever written by Theodore Roosevelt. The subject of the article is: "What the Japanese Have Stood for in World War." The article was written during the dark days that came to the great statesman when his son went down to death on the battlefield. Written under such circumstances and published now that the militant president has gone, it seems like a voice from beyond the waters.

Brushing aside the cob webs of prejudice against the Japanese, woven by paid agents of Germany and unscrupulous demagogues, Mr. Roosevelt pays tribute to the achievements of Japan in the world struggle and shows how much the allied world owes their oriental member. It was the Japanese navy that drove the German sea raiders from the Pacific, thus releasing British and American vessels to convoy troops overseas. It was Japanese destroyers and cruisers that convoyed the Australian and New Zealand contingents to European battlefields. Unless Japanese veterans had conquered the German stronghold of the East, English and Yankee forces would have been forced to fight the Hun at Kiao Chau.

Concerning the anti-Japanese agitation in this country, Mr. Roosevelt was most severe in his righteous criticism. His language of protest should be widely read and heeded today:

"There are in this country certain demagogic politicians, certain agitators seeking notoriety, and certain conscienceless and sensation-mongering newspaper owners and writers who are willing to make money or obtain preferment for themselves by any appeal to distrust or suspicion, no matter what infinite harm it does to this country. These sordid creatures have worked hand in glove with the scarcely more sordid creatures who are paid by Germany in downright cash to advance Gedmany's aims, whether by striving to provoke an ill-will that might eventually produce war between the United States and Japan or in any other fashion. They have been guilty of conduct so shameful that it cannot be too strongly condemned."

When one reads the above quotation he cannot avoid thinking of the Shantung reservation and the indiscriminate abuse of Japan expressed by Lodge and Borah and Johnson. The very policy denounced so severely by Roosevelt was the identical policy pursued by the senatorial baiters of Japan. And their course is all the more inexplicable when it is recalled that the three senators who have denounced Japan with such an insane passion were close personal friends and devoted political followers of Colonel Roosevelt before his death. Such a development demonstrates once more how much America lost when Theodore Roosevelt died.

FEET OF CLAY

The contribution of Mr. McAdoo to the coal controversy at first glance seemed, in the language of the patent medicine advertisement, to fill a long-felt want. The air was alive with rhetoric, but the public was suffering from a dearth of figures. While a part of the world alleged universal bankruptcy among the mine operators, another class alleged the heartless exploitation of the coal miners. But no one had any figures upon which to plan an opinion till Mr. McAdoo came out of eclipse and furnished some sure-enough figures.

But the more one studies Mr. McAdoo's column of digits the less one knows about them. He has more latitude in his statement of earnings than a map of the universe. He declares that the operators are rolling in wealth because their profits in 1917 ranged all the way from 15 per cent to 2,000 per cent. Fair enough, but how many of the plutocrats aforementioned get the 15 and how many get the 2,000?

If a majority of the operators got away with 2,000, then there is little limit to the increase in wages they are able to pay. But if a majority of them are drawing down only 15 per cent, the possible increase is not so much or so many.

It makes all the difference in the world which end of the problem you begin to work from when you begin to prepare a wage increase table. An increase based on the 15 per cent end of the example would help the miners mighty little. An increase based on a 2,000 per cent expectancy would play pluperfect hob with the little 15 per cent operators.

But Mc of the Doo family made a brave start in the right direction. It's figures we want and not metaphors. Unfortunately his figures do not get us anywhere. More to the purpose are the figures of Iverson C. Wells in the Chicago "Black Diamond," where he shows that ninety per cent of the country's coal tonnage last year was produced by the Pittsburg Coal Company, the Colorado Iron and Fuel Company, and other similar companies listed on the New York Stock Exchange, and that these companies struggled last year to pay a dividend of 18 per cent.

It is a grievous disappointment to learn at this late day that the demi-god we have been genuflecting to so long has feet of clay. McAdoo is a lawyer and tube builder and financier and railway king, but as a mathematician it must be admitted that he is a piano tuner.

"Wave of insanity hits Kansas," says headline in Tulsa World. But isn't that rather stale news?

Many of these departmental reports read like romances. Some of them are.

Why Turks Seek To Exterminate The Armenians

One of the reasons is plunder. The Armenians are a thrifty people, and are ready to adopt more modern methods of carrying on business. The Turks on the other hand, are not progressive, and live from hand to mouth. The idea of plunder, therefore, is a temptation to them. During the war they robbed the Armenians of their harvests, their seed, their tools, and their money. The Armenians are now returning to their homes penniless and without the means of raising a crop. Money and tools must be provided.

But there is another reason why the Turks are determined to exterminate the Armenians. The Turks are Mohammedans. Mohammedanism is the inveterate enemy of Christianity. The Armenians long ago embraced Christianity and have held tenaciously to it ever since. Thousands of Armenians have surrendered their lives rather than give up their religion. But the Turks are determined to exterminate the religion of Christ, and this is the chief reason for their atrocities. Had it not been for the other nations of the world, every Armenian would long ago have been exterminated. In the early days of Mohammedan conquest a person not a Mohammedan was given one of three choices—he could become a Mohammedan, pay tribute, or die. The spirit of Mohammedanism is the same today as it has always been.

Every Christian should therefore be interested in saving the lives of the Armenians, if not from the humanitarian standpoint, from the standpoint of preserving Christianity in the far East. If we save the Armenians now, who can tell what part they may play in the future in making the East Christian. It is a contest between the cross and the crescent. The duty of every Christian is clear. Save the Armenians. You will be given the opportunity of contributing to this important cause at the mass meeting Sunday evening at the Methodist Church, when pictures will be shown; also on Monday, Dec. 8. Ada's quota is $1200.00. Let us go over the top.—C. V. Dunn, Chairman.

Law of Values Protects Coal Consumer, Says Vice President of Operators' Ass'n.

By J. D. A. MORROW
Vice President, National Coal Association

Recently, when the bituminous coal operators declared that they could not meet the demands of the miners for a sixty per cent wage increase and a thirty-hour week without inflicting a tax of a billion dollars a year upon the public, the charge of profiteering was made against them.

Perhaps the best answer to this charge is contained in the figures which Fuel Administrator Garfield presented to the joint conference of miners and operators in Washington. Dr. Garfield's figures showed that during 1918, when 579,385,820 tons of bituminous coal were mined, the average cost of production was $2.15 per ton leaving an average margin of 46 cents per ton to the operator. But this margin of 46 cents per ton, the Fuel Administrator explained, did not represent profit, because interest charges, selling expense, Federal taxes and sundry other items not allowed in computing costs of production were paid out of it.

This year, on account of the falling off in production, and the increased costs of production, the average margin left to the operator will be much less, and his profits correspondingly reduced. In many of the mine fields the operators are making less than four per cent upon the actual capital invested by them.

One phase of the operators' business which has not been thoroughly understood to date by the public is the necessity for a difference in the price of high grade and low grade coal. The high grade coal naturally costs more to produce. In addition, it lowers the value of the other coal from which it is screened out. Consequently, although an operator may sell his high grade coal for much more than his low grade, the average profit on his entire output is not increased because he lowers the value of his remaining product and his profits on his high priced grades are offset by the losses on his low grade coal.

In this country, bituminous coal is one of the necessities of life. Factories, mills, public utilities, apartments, houses and hotels are dependent upon it to provide work, transportation and homes for millions of wants them. Moreover, he is free to choose the mines and districts from which he will take his coal. Under such circumstances, your price gravitates to the lowest level of production naturally, normally and inevitably. Nor is there any sensible reason why either production or prices should fail to satisfy either public demand or public approval.

That being the case, with bituminous coal there is only one thing that needs to be done to take care adequately of any question with respect to prices, and that is simply to assure enough production. You do not need any price regulation whatever, under those conditions, because the market itself will regulate the price and make it low. The United States Government could not put it up, even if it fixed the price. With an unlimited production, the bottom would drop out of prices in spite of the Government.

ARGENTINA IS NOW TRUST AFFLICTED

CHIEF OF ALL TRUSTS IS THE
"WINE TRUST" ON SLOPES
OF THE ANDES, SAYS
RECENT REPORT.

The Associated Press
BUENOS AIRES, Dec. 5.—A committee of the Chamber of Deputies has discovered after more than a year's investigation that Argentina is afflicted with "trusts." Wine, flour, lime, potatoes, meat and oil and naphtha are described in a recent report of the committee as under the control of "trusts" which have been able to flourish and maintain high prices chiefly because of high protective tariffs or favorable railroad rates it is charged.

The committee finds that the most typical "trust" in Argentina (the word "trust" is put in quotation marks throughout the report) is the "wine trust" in the great grape growing province of Mendoza on the slopes of the Andes. It is charged that this combination of wine producers is an "official trust organized by the law of the province" which is able to pay the cost of the greater part of its administration out of the local privilege created by the monopoly of wine.

Destruction of grapes and wine, exportation of wine at a low price and maintenance of a high price in Argentina are alleged. The "trust" is able to exist, the report says, by virtue of high customs duties which discourage the importation of ordinary wines and by the aid of the national banks. Reform in the administration of the banks and in the tariff laws is demanded.

The committee names the Standard Oil Company, of the United States, as the "trust" which controls kerosene and naphtha in Argentina. The report sets forth that this "trust norteamericano del petroleo" has in Argentina a "powerful subsidiary company, divided in its legal aspect into one section of production, another of marketing and transport."

"The commercial practices of this 'trust,'" says the report, "are those of a monopoly which wishes to extend even more and consolidate. There is no proof that the 'trust' has determined upon increasing the price of kerosene and naphtha in the country, but it is certain that its prices represent a relative increase, that is to say, with relation to the cost of production."

Argentina's defense against "this international and almost world-wide monopoly," the committee says, "consists of encouraging commerce in and production of all other materials capable of producing light and heat and developing the production of petroleum as a government enterprise." Since every private enterprise will be annihilated or absorbed by the "trust."

Dealing with meat, the report says that the exportation of this commodity is "in the hands of great companies which are subsidiary to still more powerful foreign companies tending toward capitalistic monopoly." The committee recommends that Argentina organizes its own meat industry with municipal and regional cold storage plants and enter into direct relation with the great foreign markets of consumption.

Finding that a milling trust exists, the committee declares that laws against extortionate capitalistic combinations are necessary and that "we should educate ourselves economically and politically for the socialization of this industry."

Some very valuable minerals are found in Armenia. The mountains are mainly composed of trachytic porphyry. Slate and limestone are found on the sides of the mountains. There is some granite, but it is not very abundant. Silver, lead, iron and copper are found. There is plenty of rock salt, some of which is shipped to Persia.

The climate of Armenia is severe. Winter continues from October to May, and snow lies on the ground and in the streets eight months of the year. This is true of the town of Erzerum, which played a conspicuous part in the war. Wheat, barley, tobacco, hemp, grapes, and cotton are raised; also apricots, peaches, mulberries, and the great bulk of them are in Armenia, and many refugees are now returning to their devastated homes in that sad land.

The Armenians are a people of fine native ability, being said to surpass even the Jews in business acumen. The writer had the privilege of coming in contact with some of the Armenian students in Yale university, and they were splendid fellows. They were among the best students in the University. When at the Oklahoma City conference he met an Armenian general, who served in the Russian army during the war. He was a very bright man, and spoke the English language well. There were one half million Armenian soldiers in the recent struggle. Two hundred of these were in the Russian army. They displayed great valor.

These people are worth saving. They have red blood in their veins. They are believers in Christ, and thousands of them have died, rather than give up their religion. What will the people of Pontotoc County do for these worthy people on December 8, the day set for the climax of the campaign for funds. The county's quota is $2300. Ada's, $1200. C. V. DUNN, County chairman.

INTERSTATE COMMERCE COMMISSION REPORTS

By the Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—The annual report of the Interstate Commerce Commission, submitted to congress today, is comparatively brief and makes few recommendations.

Federal control of railways during the last year, having taken over many functions of the commission, the report renews mainly recommendations made in previous years.

It is recommended that the power to award reparation for unreasonable or unlawful charges be placed wholly in the courts; that the powers of the commission be extended to holding corporations as well as those which actually operate transportation lines, and that railroad operating rules be standardized.

The commission reports again that in many cases its work has been obstructed because necessary records and data could only be obtained from holding companies.

From its investigations of train accidents the commission's investigators concluded that the failure of engineers to obey signals and failure to provide adequate flag protection for trains continued to be the principal causes of collisions. The use of automatic train control was again recommended.

The investigators also found, the report says, that there was room for much improvement in the air brake equipment of trains.

When St. Xavier visited Japan the people eagerly accepted the new religion and before 1600 two million converts had been baptized. But the court of Japan drove all traces of Christianity from the empire soon after this period and thought that the new religion had been altogether driven out. But down near Nagasaki a little group of villages, hidden in a mountain alley, still practiced the rites that had been taught them. When at last Japan was opened to Christianity, the Catholic priests found a garbled sort of Christianity still practiced in the community and the discovery made a sensation throughout the Catholic world. A few years later the entire population of the valley was deported by the Japanese government in a last effort to stamp out all trace of the foreign religion.

By the Associated Press

RIO DE JANEIRO, Dec. 4.—General Candido Rondon, famous Brazilian explorer and companion of Theodore Roosevelt when he explored the "River of Doubt," paid a high tribute to Colonel Roosevelt the other night, when before a distinguished audience in the Municipal Theatre the General was presented with medallions from the New York Geographical Society, the Explorers' Club of New York, and the Rio de Janeiro Geographical Society.

"At this moment when I am so glad and grateful to receive your homage," said General Rondon, "the image of my virile and dear friend Roosevelt is with me. I see before me the massive structure of his fine body, his radiant joviality, his keen and intelligent eye."

The General recalled the times he had spent with Colonel Roosevelt on various expeditions, especially in the exploration of the River of Doubt. The Colonel, he said, was always first on the march. He referred to Colonel Roosevelt's travels and explorations in South America in company with his son Kermit.

"Among the many and great works which Colonel Roosevelt had conceived and realized," General Rondon continued, "he would mention in his conversations only his pacific intervention between Russia and Japan, the construction of the Panama canal, and the audacity of having been the first to meet clearly and incisively the conquering insolence of the German empire which, in order not to encounter the United States squadron, had to give up its attempt on Venezuela."

He spoke of Colonel Roosevelt as continuing "the glories of Washington and Lincoln," and concluded:

"This enthusiastic Rough Rider was prevented himself from bearing arms for the liberty of peoples, but he sent all his sons to the battlefields of France and stoically saw one of them lose his life. The others, one of whom was our dear companion in the discovery of the River of Doubt, were wounded in the great battles at the end of 1918."

General Rondon, who was only recently elected to his present rank from a colonelcy, was for many years Chief of Construction of the government telegraph lines. His work sent him into the vast unexplored regions of the interior of Brazil inhabited by uncivilized Indians. He had a knack of winning the confidence of these Indians, and among several tribes is affectionately known as "Papa Rondon." His workers were rarely molested.

DEPARTMENT STORECLEMENCEAU WINKS AT THE GALIC ROOSTER

By the Associated Press

KIEHL, Germany, Dec. 4.—When Premier Clemenceau visited Kehl the other day he walked rapidly to the end of the great bridge which crosses the Rhine to Strasburg, winked gaily at the Gallic cock that replaces the Prussian eagle on the top of the bridge and then turned to face a battery of photographers and moving picture men.

"Go ahead, snap away but don't forget that you must include that old bird up there in the picture," he said to the camera men.

Leaning over the railing he noticed a big pile of coal on the pier below and pointed it out to M. Claveille, the Minister of Railways, saying to him:

"Don't let me hear another complaint from the Parisians about the lack of coal."

M. Claveille's reply could not be heard but evidently it was not satisfactory for, addressing the newspaper men, the Premier shouted:

"Boys, send a telegram to your newspapers in Paris something like this: 'Plenty of coal in Kehl but Claveille will not transport it.'"

Returning to the waiting automobiles through the muddy main street lined with low houses from behind the curtained windows of which faces peered curiously, Clemenceau caught sight of three frock coated men; standing top hats in hand in the driving rain: "Who are these people?" asked Premier Clemenceau. He was informed that they were the German mayor of the city and his two aides. They advanced toward him and the Premier stopped. The German mayor, after excusing himself for his faulty French said: "I hope you have had an enjoyable stay and will have a pleasant journey." Noting that they were still uncovered, Clemenceau said; somewhat gruffly, "put on your hats." Then he hesitated for a moment, looked about him, finally beckoned to the three Germans to come to him, and replied with punctilious but dry politeness: "I thank you for your good wishes."

Then he made as if to go out impulsively as if overcoming a strong resolution, he extended his hand which the three Germans took and bowing deeply they withdrew.

FAR BE IT FROM ME

Far be it from me to discourage the man

Who wears whiskers and hair too long

From thinking that he can improve nature's plan
And that nothing he does can be wrong!

It would not occur to a cell in my brain

To discourse on the truth or on lies

With any fanatic from Texas to Maine
Who had a wild light in his eyes.

Far be it from me to attempt to deny

That the moon is made out of green cheese!

I'm perfectly willing that others should try,
But I'll let folks think what they please.

There is not a folly so great but some brain

Is fitted, and glad to believe it.
But why should one bother to preach or explain.

When intellects fail to receive it?

The fool will be deaf till your teachings are through,

Then he'll offer disdain or abuse,

While the man who will listen is wiser than you.

So I ask you, my friend, what's the use?

Far be it from me to enlighten the Race,

However depraved it may be,

For nothing more ears on my own

spirit's grace

Than to have some one preaching to me!

JEWELRY STOREOH BOY! MICKEY IS COMING TO THE CITY RIGHT AWAY

The film that is making a nation happy is "Mickey". The play is to have its initial presentation in the South at the Liberty Theatre where it will be seen next Tuesday and Wednesday. Mack Sennett, the king of comedy producers is responsible for "Mickey" and comedy directors the world over are taking their hats off to him, at the success of his second supreme achievement.

"Mickey" is not of the ordinary run of motion pictures, it is a film that the public is privileged to see once in a lifetime. As the star, for all films have to have a star, Mabel Normand, the rainbow girl of the screen, was selected and Mabel more than does justice to her part. She is every inch a screen comedienne, and as for the story, it would take entirely too much space to tell all that happens or at a minimum one tenth of the incidents, many and varied, that transpire between the opening title and the close.

Mack Sennett has thought out and proceeded to instill into the play about everything that theatre patrons could hope to see with one exception—war. There is no inkling of war in the play, not even a burlesque for the war is over and should be forgotten. But to make up for it everything from a dime novel hero to the greatest of Shakespearean comedians was used in some manner or other. Take for instance the slapstick points used in a number of the scenes there are mad races between trains, rattling "chases" on horseback, an eye filling ball room scene, and everything else that is known to filmdom including a meal served for two, sliding off a roof and many other forms. But to give relief, to the audience, pathos humor at its fullest, adventures of every sort, romance of the moonlight nights, tense drama, thrills of every sort—they are all in "Mickey". Mabel Normand in "Mickey" is all that we have been led to expect and then some.

When the folks at home half jokingly ask you what you want for Christmas—why don't you speak right up and say "SILK SHIRTS?"

That's what you really DO want, isn't it? Then why keep it a secret and be disappointed on Christmas morning when you unwrap a de luxe edition of "Les Misérables" in two volumes. The Drummond & Alderson collection of SILK SHIRTS this Christmas challenges to produce anything better in silk and sewing and the patterns and the colorings are the talk of the town. We have been led to expect and then some.
